SOUTH PARIS

Enthusiastic Community Meeting
The first meeting of the Community Club for the season Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 12, was largely attended notwithstanding other events which kept a number away. The meeting hall at the fire station was crowded.

Mrs. Edith H. Wheeler, the president, presided during the meeting and at the close of the business session announced the gift to the club by Mrs. Leslie L. Mason of an oak gavel with a silver band inscribed, "Community Club of South Paris, 1920." Other gifts were also announced.

Mrs. William E. Brewster of Dexter, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, who was to speak, had an attack of illness and was unable to come. Dana S. Williams of Lewiston was thereupon communicated with, and accepted an invitation to speak to the Club.

During the interval between the business session and the arrival of Mr. Williams, there was a short musical entertainment, and Mrs. Leslie L. Mason gave a report of the State Federation which she attended as a delegate from the Seneca Club.

Mr. Williams came on the afternoon train and spoke on the topic, "The Verdict." His address was helpful and inspiring, all present, and gave his hearers much to take away with them.

Tea was served and a social hour was spent.

New Canning Factory
Conant Brothers Company are doing a hustling business in the apple canning factory located in their new building adjoining the former Oswell Garage on Western Avenue, near the Grand Trunk station. About 20 women and a crew of about 30 men are employed. Sanitary methods are used.

The elder press takes care of the peelings and cores, and after an apple starts on its course it is ready in a short space of time to crate and ship. A siding has been built so cars can be loaded and unloaded readily. One-half of the building is used for storing apples. Eight power paring machines are working in good order. Three bodkin-like points surrounded by cutters on a revolving shaft holds and cores the apple, then it is pared and falls into a bin of water.

A carrier under the center of the machine conveys the material under the floor to another part of the building, where the juice is extracted. The pared apples are quartered by girls, who sit at a long table. Perfect pieces of apples are placed above the table in an inclosed space. The quartered apples are finally heaped into cans holding a gallon each. They are then filled with boiling water, and conveyed to a sealing machine, and the tops are later soldered on, after which they are immersed in boiling water three and one-half minutes, inspected, labelled and packed in crates.

Surprise Party
A party of young people motored here from Mechanic Falls, Tuesday evening, Oct. 12, and gave Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Barker a surprise party in their new home. This was a genuine, well planned surprise party. Light refreshments were taken along and served during the evening. A beautiful gift was presented to them.

Mr. Barker has been superintendent of Electric Light Plant in Mechanic Falls for the last fifteen years, and will be greatly missed. Both he and Mrs. Barker have made many friends, who very much regret their departure from Mechanic Falls.

The Community Club of South Paris has invited all the Women's Organizations of Oxford County to a meeting to be held in Engine House Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 26th, at 3.30 p. m., at which time Mrs. Robert T. Whitehouse of Portland, State Chairman of the Home Directorate, will be present and speak on the State Chamber of Commerce and Agricultural League.

She will take up especially the work of the Home Directorate, its organization, purposes and work accomplished. This will be a most interesting meeting, and it is hoped that the acceptance of this invitation will be county wide.

A large crowd attended the Court Ball at the Grange Hall, Tuesday evening. Another dance will be held there Tuesday evening, Oct. 19, and Mrs. Earl Farnum will sing with Shaw's Orchestra.

Shaw's Orchestra will hold a dance at Mechanic Falls on Friday evening of this week, also at West Paris, Saturday evening.

R. S. Davis returned Thursday from San Francisco, Cal., where he has resided twenty-five years. Broken in health, he journeyed to Maine for an extended stay, believing the invigorating air will prove the best medicine. He is the brother of T. M. Davis of this town.

No services were held at the Universalist Church Sunday as Rev. C. G. Miller had not sufficiently recovered from his late illness. Mr. Miller expects to occupy his pulpit next Sunday, October 24, with Sunday school as usual.

A meeting of the Teen Age Department of the Methodist Church was held at Mrs. Helen Briggs' Friday evening. The officers elected for this year are: Pres., Christine Davis; V. Pres., Laura Brooks; Sec., Miriam Robertson; Treas., Martha Fletcher. A social hour was spent after the meeting and refreshments served.

Mrs. Evelyn Green and son Horace have returned from North Waterford and will open a boarding house.

Theodore Tylar has again returned to the meat market as owner and manager. The store was opened a few weeks ago and sold to A. B. Cobb of Norway Cash Market who recently made an assignment to W. C. Conary, an attorney at Norway.

Roscoe Conary, who has been working at Crystal, N. H., will move his family to South Paris and occupy the upstairs tenement in Charles A. Walker's house. The Laforest Whitman farm near Hopewell's Lodge has been purchased by Gardner Rankin of East Hiram.

Mrs. Sarah Parlin has been visiting friends at her former home in Wilton the past week.

Mrs. Louise J. Briggs has been spending several days in Portland, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Emma F. Gibbs.

The women's voting list has been printed and carries 944 names.

Rev. L. H. Skoughton of Alfred supplied the pulpit at the Congregational Church Sunday.

Perley F. Ripley, Irving O. Barrows and C. W. Bowker attended the Maine Automobile Association meeting at Augusta recently.

Mrs. Carrie A. Briggs, aged 73, who lives with her son, Frank Briggs, near Hick's Crossing, was carried to the C. M. G. Hospital, Tuesday. She had a

Game Not Plenty

Ned Packard and John Laforte were in Greenwood recently, looking for game. They went over Joe Emmons mountain, near the Roberts place without seeing deer or signs of them. A few partridges were killed and ducks seen, but were very wild, having been shot into.

Emmons' Curtis is stopping at the West Paris Camp at the old Roberts mill, Greenwood, looking for game. He is there alone and enjoying quietude and seclusion.

Levi Richardson and two sons recently returned from the camp in Upton, near B. Pond. The deer kept out of sight. A short time ago Frank Hurd and others were there and saw a half dozen deer. Since then they have become wild and scattered.

Shortie Cook and Mel Sampson of Norway are devoting all their energy to bird hunting with dogs and claim they are getting some.

John Freeman and Clarence Coffin are likewise engaged with similar results.

Factories Have Stopped Work
Carroll-Jellerson Shoe Co., closed down Wednesday for an indefinite time waiting orders.

The Norway Shoe Co. have stopped work and will remain closed until November 1, when they will resume work.

The box shop of C. B. Cummings & Sons Co. have stopped work waiting orders.

Substitute For Whiskey
Denatured alcohol is being used as a substitute for whiskey. Some say it is good alcohol, but a physician tells us that would be impossible. That kind of a stimulant is sure and quick death while the denatured stuff is a slower process of starting a functional process, but is equally as certain if persisted in.

Inquiry shows that considerable call for denatured alcohol has been made for the purpose of painting boats the past week. So much so that the supply was soon exhausted.

Elva Perry of Norway and Clarice Small of Rumford, both students at Bates, have been admitted to membership in the Phil-Hellenic Club.

Howard C. Chick, who has been assistant foreman of the Portland factory of the American Canning Company, the past summer, has returned home. The factory has shut down for want of orders. He is thinking of going into business in town.

Geo. W. Everett is home from Crystal, N. H., where he is working for the Paris Manufacturing Co. He will return, the first of the month.

C. P. Ring and wife of Gorham, N. H., formerly of Greenwood, called on the Alvorders, Saturday. Mr. Ring has lived in Gorham about six years, and at present is running a stationary engine for the Libbys. They have not lost interest in this section and subscribed for the paper for the coming year.

Henry Calhoun, the boy who sweeps the floor and tends fires, and school, lost the office key. An ad. was put in the Intelligence Column and Mrs. Dan DeLa of Norway Lake brought in the key. One of her boys found it on the Norway Lake road. The boy's key has been lost many times in the past 39 years, but has always turned up. It was gone one time six months and turned up in the office of the Oxford Democrat. Every new boy is expected to lose the key. Calhoun is no exception.

The 15-year-old boy, getting $2.50 per day handling wood for a gasoline engine and is not satisfied. He wants a lighter job and more pay.

This is the seed year for pines. The big trees are loaded with cones. If you gather the cones now and dry them in the sun the seeds will come out and are worth $2.00 per pound in the markets where they are sold. Pines bear once in seven years. Beechnuts are plenty, this year, and squirrels ought to be numerous, but are not. Too many rapid fire guns and hunters.

The ladies of the Universalist Church will hold their Harvest Supper at Concert Hall, Tuesday evening, October 26, at 7.45. The committee in charge is Mrs. Scott Merrill, Mrs. Frank Murdock, Mrs. Alice Marston, Mrs. Bert Melvin, Mrs. Emma Mann, Mrs. Eunice Marston, Mrs. William Noyes and Mrs. Alice Oxnard.

There was a very pleasant gathering Sunday, October 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Merrill at North Norway. Mrs. Merrill's father, mother, and her brothers, sisters and families were present. There were twenty-four visitors, they went by auto. ACT QUICKLY
Do the right thing at the right time.
Act quickly in time of danger.
In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Ask your neighbor.
Plenty of Norway evidence of their worth.
Albert F. Prescott, shoemaker, Crockett's Bridge, Norway, says: "My kidneys gave out and I had backache so bad it put me past going for several days. I couldn't bend over, I was so stiff and lame. I was working in the ship yards at the time and I blame so much heavy lifting for the starting of my trouble. I had to get up several times during the night to pass the kidney secretions. I felt drowsy all the time. Finally I went to Stone's Drug Store and got three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. This remedy reached my case at once and after using three boxes, the trouble left me entirely. I have felt fine ever since. I can't recommend a better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills."
Prices 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Prescott had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE Socony gasoline sign is more than a symbol of service—it is a pledge of quality. On the island of Nantucket or in the rural towns of northern Vermont, standard quality Socony gasoline is always obtainable—and always satisfactory.

There are different grades of crude petroleum, different methods of refining it and consequently different qualities of the finished gasoline. Socony is refined from selected crude stock, by the most up-to-date and efficient methods known, under standard conditions. It is a fuel of known excellence—clean, uniform, powerful.

For year-round economy and greatest satisfaction, use the same gasoline regularly. With Socony in your tank and the proper carburetor adjustment, you will notice an increase in your monthly mileage average.

Socony quality and service have made motoring a pleasure and gasoline satisfaction a certainty.

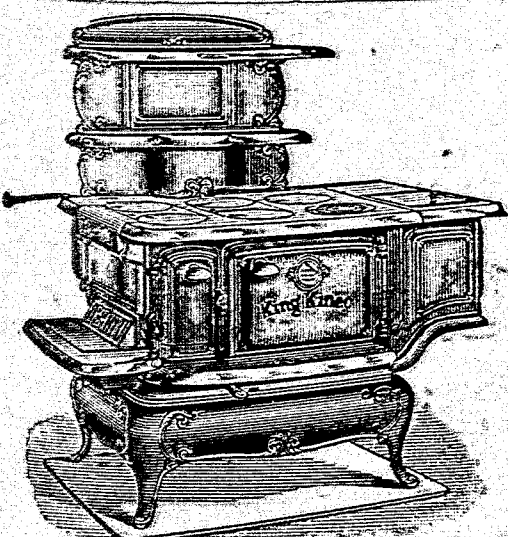

Look for the red, white and blue Socony sign.

Any room a cozy corner—in a few minutes

It isn't necessary to "rush" the heater a half hour just to make the one room you want to use comfortable. Drafts will seep in through window sashes and door jams. But you needn't heat up the whole house just to keep your favorite corner safe and cozy.

A Perfection Oil Heater between you and the window or door will make drafts warm and healthful.

Thousands of families find "Perfection" heating most economical

It is an expensive luxury to keep seldom-used rooms and hallways heated all the time. Keep the house warm all over with your furnace or steam heater, and then bring the room you're going to use up to 70° or 72° with a Perfection Oil Heater.

The Perfection is so convenient that it has a score of practical uses—drying clothes on rainy days; heating water for shaving; getting up in the morning; in the sewing room.

Progressive hardware, housefurnishing and department stores sell Perfection Oil Heaters—blue or black finish, with or without nicked trimmings. Burns about 10 hours on a gallon of kerosene. Let your dealer show you one.

For best results use Socomey Kerosene.

MEMORIAL ADDRESS

The memorial address on the death of James S. Wright, by C. F. Whitman, at the memorial services at the Court House, October 12:

We are being constantly reminded of the instability of all earthly things. We live in a world of change. We are born, we live a short period here and then pass away, but in us all there is a hope of a life beyond the grave.

"It must be so, * * * else why this pleasing hope; This fond desire; this longing for immortality! Or whence this sacred dread, this inward horror, falling into naught? Why shrinks the soul Back on itself and stares at destruction? 'Tis the divinity that stirs within us! 'Tis Heaven itself, That points out an hereafter and intimates an eternity to man."

"God will not leave us in the dust. He made man; we know not why; We cannot know, we can but trust; We feel we were not made to die."

"Time deprives us of our dear ones—one by one. God's ways are beyond our comprehension, yet He did not summon our brother, James S. Wright to the higher court above till his career on earth was finished, and his work here fully completed. I speak from an intimate knowledge of the lawyer and of the man."

We were born on a farm. We obtained our education in the common and high schools of the region where we were reared. We read law in an attorney's office. We were admitted to practice at the same time. He was between three and four years older than I and from that time to his passing away, I looked up to him for counsel and cherished for him, a brotherly affection, such as I have not felt for any other member of this bar. Our purposes in life, our characteristics, our general tastes, our faiths and our principles were much the same. Perhaps, then, it is fitting that I should have been selected by our honored President of the Oxford Bar Association, to pay this tribute to his memory.

James S. Wright served ten years as clerk of this court, and was one of the best who ever held the office. He followed Col. Wm. K. Kimball of courtly manners, who had served with distinction before and after the Civil War. The law is not a better school than the clerkship of courts, where one can obtain a theoretical knowledge of the practice of the law in all its branches. But if one stays too long, he loses the opportunity to acquire the requisite practical knowledge and the skill to become a trained jury lawyer, if indeed he has it in him and a taste for it.

It is said that Daniel Webster in his early career could have obtained the appointment of clerk of the courts in the county where he resided, but was persuaded not to accept of the office on the ground that he would be likely to stay too long and thus destroy his chances of becoming a great lawyer. He wisely listened to this advice, devoted himself to the practice of his profession and became the most eminent advocate and constitutional lawyer of his time.

James S. Wright was not clerk of the courts too long. As the law then was, a clerk could practice his profession, and he did so, though not extensively. And when he went out of the clerkship, he took up the duties of county attorney and served two terms. This was of the greatest advantage to him, for it gave him the opportunity he sought to acquire the skill to handle, successfully, cases before a jury. In fact, it put him squarely on his feet as a jury lawyer. It was his greatest ambition to become one of the leading jury lawyers of the bar. This he accomplished during the last ten years of his practice. He prepared his cases thoroughly and handled them skillfully and well. He was more than ordinarily successful. He took a great pride in his profession. He had high ideals respecting the duties and responsibilities of a practicing attorney. He had a great regard for the oath he had taken when admitted to the bar. He never instituted any false or ungrounded suits and never oppressed anyone. He brought no worthless actions to pass his docket entries.

The lawyers he took for models were Charles W. Walton, Wm. Wirt Virgin and David R. Hastings, who in their day, were leaders and ornaments of the Oxford Bar.

Mr. Wright had a political ambition. Besides holding town and county office he served with much credit in both branches of the State Legislature and as a member of the Governor's Council. This last position he regarded as rounding out his political career.

In earlier times, the office of Clerk of the Courts had been regarded in Oxford County as a stepping stone to a Congressional career. Rufus K. Goodenow, Chas. Andrews, and Sidney Perham of the eleven clerks who had preceded Mr. Wright had served in the National House of Representatives and three others, Joseph G. Cole, Wm. K. Kimball and Alvah Black, had been unsuccessful candidates for the same high position. With those examples before him, he may have sometimes thought that the opportunity to secure a seat in Congress might come to him, but it did not think that he ever seriously contemplated it. He made no effort in that direction and laid no foundation for such a career. It took time and persistent effort to place himself among the leading lawyers of the bar, and to this he devoted all his energies.

Mr. Wright had an ambition to acquire a competence, a sufficiency of this world's goods, so that in his old age he would have enough on which to live comfortably and well, and leave something for those of his family, who should survive him, and this ambition was fully satisfied. He was a good and careful business man as well as a good lawyer. The fees he took were moderate and generally much less than he might have charged. His dealings with his clients were beyond criticism.

And finally James S. Wright had a high regard for the respect and confidence of his fellow men. The people who knew him trusted him fully, and this confidence and trust he retained to the last. He wished to be considered as a good citizen and he was all that and more. He was an affectionate husband, a kind father, and a good neighbor. He had all the virtues of a prominent and leading citizen of his community.

It is the glory of our country, that being born in humble circumstances is no bar to rising to position and power. Fortunate conditions it is true, aid in giving opportunities. Men very frequently obtain positions, way beyond their capacity to properly fill, and it may be that few rise to be leaders of men, from merit alone. Gov. John D. Long once said that the common idea of great men was to his mind, a misconception. He had doubtless measured himself with other men he had met in public life, and found them not above his level. Still he must have felt, scholar that he was, that there had been those in the world's history, in fields of activity, in letters, in statesmanship and in science and art, who had risen to such eminence, that they stand out, above the mass of men like lofty peaks in a mountain range. Such, whether justly or otherwise, are called great. Who in literature has ever equalled the writer of the "Great Plays"? What orator has ever surpassed Demosthenes? What leader of armies has ever even approached Hannibal or Bonaparte? And yet King Alfred of blessed memory, who saved the English nation and the English language from perishing from the earth, and our own George Washington, who did so much to secure our Independence and establish our Free Government were not considered in their times to be eminent men or great leaders. And the Pilgrim Fathers, who signed the compact of government in the cabin of the Mayflower 300 years ago which is the foundation of our liberties destined though the ages to profoundly influence all races and nations of men beyond anything in civil government ever written were apparently but ordinary men.

The greatest credit that can be given any man is that he made of himself all that was in him; that he developed to the utmost, all his powers and capabilities. This, James S. Wright did. He was a fortunate man; fortunate in his principles inherited from his good old New England ancestors; fortunate in the circumstances and conditions which surrounded him through life, fortunate in the bounds he set to his purposes and ambitions, and fortunate in his wife and children. His career was a success. He accomplished what he sought to attain. He acquired what, as a young man, he had set out to get. The goal ahead he had kept constantly and steadily in mind. There had been no wavering, no hesitation, no doubt. Patiently and industriously he forged ahead and through a long life of more than three score years and ten, and half a century in the practice of his profession, he had kept his integrity unstained and his honor untarnished.

Who shall measure the satisfaction he felt when the great objects of his life had been fully accomplished? I can only do so in part. Such a life is worthy of all emulation and is priceless in the community where he lives.

James S. Wright could well contemplate the passing of existence here with satisfaction and say for himself with John Quincy Adams, when the final stroke came: "This is the last of earth. I am content." Or with the good "Gray Poet."

"The ship is anchored safe and sound; Its voyage is closed and done; From favored trip the gallant ship Comes in with object won."

For us, he might well have said with Tennyson:

"Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me,
And may there be no moaning at the bar,
When I put on to see
Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark,
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark."

There is no death, a star goes down,
Walk o'er the earth with silent tread,
They bend upon some fairer shore,
And then we call them dead.

There is no death, a star goes down,
To rise upon some fairer shore,
And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown,
It shines forevermore."

Mr. L. W. Newcomb Through With Hospitals

Springfield, Mass.—In a letter sent to Dr. J. P. True of Dr. L. W. Newcomb of 189 Cambridge Street, writes: "I am writing to let you know how I am getting along. I have taken two large size bottles of your Dr. True's Elixir and am feeling 100% better than before using. I will continue taking it for I do not have the pain that I had before, and my wife and everyone I know tells me I am looking better. The deep circles are all gone from under my eyes. No more hospitals for me!"

Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller has benefited thousands upon thousands of sufferers from constipation, nervousness, poor appetite, indigestion, insomnia and worms. ### NORWAY AND VICINITY

J. Emil Beaulieu left town Monday for Coaticook, Quebec, where he has been appointed station agent. His family will remain here several weeks.
Nellie Gurney, aged 9 years, brought to this office a sample of ripe wild raspberries picked near her home Oct. 17. She gathered at least a cupful of matured fruit, equal to any product ripened under an August sun. She also showed a daisy blossom (whitehead) to be exhibited at school.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kilgore started Tuesday on a hunting trip in Grafton and around Wilson's Mills. Mrs. Kilgore will attend camp duties while Fred rounds up bears, deer and any big game within rifle shot.

A delay in crushed rock reaching South Paris held up cement laying on the road Friday and Saturday. The grading crew kept on and have the work completed to the crossing at South Paris station. Road making started Monday with a rush with sufficient material to keep all hands busy.
The list of women voters of Norway has been printed and contains 760 names.
Chas. G. Blake is building additional sheds near the spur siding for lumber storage. He is having general repairs done about his yards and preparing for winter.

FOR SALE—Registered Oxford Down Ram, place in Bethel without mills. The road through it is good. Rafe Virgin was the last one to successfully operate a mill there. He went to Rumford more than 20 years ago and has become a wealthy man, I am told. The canal that leads from the dam is gone, also the dam and mill pond is no more. The mill in which croquet sets were made has fallen down and been hauled off.

"Pad-lock on the door" has given place to a night lock, or at any rate it is gone.
From Bethel Hill to the Steam mill the road is poor. The worst there is between Norway and Gilead.

The Steam mill is a birch mill and all things connected therewith, prospering. We didn't see June Skilings, but understand he is operating the mill and making money. The look indicates it.

"Do you really suppose that chimney was built in 1787? That question was asked when we passed a house having that inscription on its chimney. I flatly said "no." I may be wrong and if so am willing to be corrected.

The prettiest river and landscape view of the Androscoggin is from the road between Allen and Gilead. No one will dispute it! Many are thrown into fits when they see it. It didn't affect me that way as I have seen it many times before.

All the brooks we passed are trout streams. Some fish are taken from them each season, but the number is growing less and less. From Norway to Gilead there are a score of such brooks. I like the brooks in Greenwood best as I am better acquainted with them. From them last spring, I got 19 1/2 ounces of dressed trout. Think of it!

We returned from Gilead on the north side of the river, crossing over on the Wire Bridge. This was our first trip down the side of the river. We were surprised at the number of good farms. The road, though in places narrow, was good. Saw mill activities are in progress in two places. Pine is being cut. Whether both operations are on Prof. W. R. Chapman's lots I do not know, but the one near Mayville I know is.

Eldritch Joslyn entertained a party of twelve school girls at the Joslyn cottage, Poland Camp Grounds, from Friday afternoon until Sunday night. Eloise Hunt, teacher of their grade, was a member of the party.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lang of Somerville, Mass., came, Thursday, and visited with friends a few days, and on Monday went to Harry Packard's camp at Hobbs Pond to stop, as he said, "until cold weather drove them out." The Langs enjoy a visit here, each year.

Mrs. Rowena Swan has returned to her home on Crescent street after spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Linnie Bartlett. Mrs. Swan's health is not very good, this fall. Her daughter, Helen S. Swan, has been taking a short vacation from her work at the post office.

Mrs. Fred E. Morse and grandson, Norman Drake, who have been spending the summer at their cottage on the top of Pike Hill, have gone to Boston for the winter.

John P. Woodman has received word that his sister, Mrs. C. F. Willey of Arlington, Mass., is critically ill. Mrs. Willey suffered a severe shock of paralysis, a few weeks ago, while at Intervale, N. H., where she and her husband had been spending the summer. She was removed to her home in Arlington.

Mrs. H. E. Lord and Mrs. L. C. Barnes of Keamsburg, N. H., are making a two weeks' visit with their sister, Mrs. J. Waldo Nash of Pleasant street. Harriett McQuillan of Portland has gone to Boston, where she is to do settlement work, this winter, and will be located at the Frances Willard house.

Miss McQuillan spent the past summer at Lake Penesseewassee, occupying the "Grey Gables."

WAYSIDE SKETCHES

A ride through Greenwood, via Mud Pond, and the City makes you feel lonely. It brings to mind so much of past glory and lost hopes you are glad when Locke's Mills and the Steam mill is reached. Here there is thrift and business activity, even though in the town of Greenwood.

Over Patch Mountain is a scene more desolate. One family occupies one farm where a few years back—within my memory—there were at least a half dozen farms and families and a school-house reasonably well filled with children, there is none. Why this abandonment?

All the cross roads and a portion of the Old County road leading to Bethel have become winter logging trails, and are impassable in the summer.

The road going over Young Hill is closed, as are the branch roads going from it. The "hollow route" through the "Bitter Opening" to West Paris has been passable to Ford cars and the mail man, this summer. How long this will continue is uncertain.

There is a reason for this but I'll not state it.

The grove near West Bethel is used for a public lunch ground, principally by auto parties. I should have said "Allens." That is the name on the depot. We recently dined there with Mr. and Mrs. William C. Leavitt, Walter C. Smith, wife and two sons, and Mother.

Another auto party of seven were there. Walter E. Holden and wife, his son Otto B., wife and three children, with Mr. Caldwell, all of Oxford. Before leaving Mr. Cole of the Auburn Cash Market and three ladies arrived. They were on their way to Bethlehem, N. H., and expected to be away from the city a couple of days or so.

We have lunched there two or three times and met others there each time, hence the conclusion that this is a favorite "Auto Lunch Grounds."

Otto Holden was operated on for a serious case of appendicitis, last spring, and is making a good recovery.

Joseph Lary and wife broke dogs and piled up rock at Round Pond for 7 years. They left 8 years ago and went to live in Gilead. We recently called on them and found they had 30 bushels of potatoes in the cellar and a French baby in the house. Joe gets $4.00 a day working on the road and says he can do as good a day's work as any man he can hire. The baby is a little over 30 months old and is motherless, and is being cared for by Mrs. Lary.

His father is a Mr. Billedeau, who works in the woods for Geo. E. Leighton.

Walker's Mills, so-called, is now a place in Bethel without mills. The road through it is good. Rafe Virgin was the last one to successfully operate a mill there. He went to Rumford more than 20 years ago and has become a wealthy man, I am told. The canal that leads from the dam is gone, also the dam and mill pond is no more. The mill in which croquet sets were made has fallen down and been hauled off.

Coal-Steam Power vs. Water Power Costs

as Shown by the Cost of Pumping Water in Bath

1918	$20,303.80	9 1-2 months with coal and 2 1-2 with electricity
1919	$10,590.26	12 months with electricity
	$ 9,713.54	Saving from use of electricity

(Report of Superintendent Walter F. Abbott, Bath Water District)

MANUFACTURERS who use steam to turn the wheels of their factories are today facing figures like these above—with the full knowledge that coal conditions will never be much better and before long will be worse.

The easily mined, high-grade coal in the East is dwindling! Industries must move where water power is available.

Industries will come to Maine—IF WATER POWER IS DEVELOPED. They will bring property, pay rolls and prosperity to the Pine Tree State.
